The Imaging Network Group Announces its newest International Member Harry's Printers, South Africa

Atlanta, Georgia, May 2, 2008 – The Imaging Network Group, a networking organization comprised of service bureau companies in the document delivery and direct mail industries announces today its newest member from South Africa, Harry's Printers.

Harry Stephens, INg President, said today “We are excited to be growing internationally and our membership will be able to assist Harry's Printers with their endeavors to move more into the transactional printing segment. Their business is diverse so we should be able to gain insight from their business model as well.”

About The Imaging Network Group

Membership includes top level executives who come together each year to interact on key issues, analyze industry trends, and get immediate feedback from their peers to help make valuable business decisions along side key industry experts from their vendor partners. Companies are mid-size service bureaus providing Direct Marketing through multi-media and Transactional Document Delivery, through local country Posts as well as via the web. Members are from the United States, Canada, Australia, Netherlands and South Africa.
